Item from the Daily Log - 14 October 1952

25X1A

Mr. Carey called to say that [REDACTED] had picked up a long article by article by Stalin published in the magazine "Bolshevik" which had been broadcast by Tass from Moscow. I informed Mr. Carey that inasmuch as there were no copyright conventions with Russia, they could not assert copyright infringement in the United State courts so that there would be no objection to dissemination of this report outside the Agency.
